In compliance with an act passed March 8th, 1867, sixteen thousand dollars of the Minn. war loan bonds held by the sinking fund on the 1st of July 1867, were transferred to the permanent school fund in exchange for an equal amount of Minn. 8 per cent. bonds transferred from the school fund to the sinking fund.

The sinking fund, during the year, became possessed of one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars in Minnesota 8 per cent. bonds, which after maturity, were cancelled and destroyed, as provided by the above mentioned act.

The sinking fund still holds fifteen thousand dollars in Minnesota railroad bonds.

THE FUNDED DEBT.

The funded debt of the State is as follows :

Unpaid 8 per cent. bonds held by the School Fund,	-	-	-	$109,000	00
Minnesota War loan, 1862,	-	-	-	100,000	00
Minnesota 7 per cent. loan, 1867,	-	-	-	100,000	00	The Funded Debt.
Total,	-	-	-	$309,000	00

The above exhibit shows that none of our bonds are in the market, and that the entire funded debt of the State is now held by the Permanent School fund, with the exception of sixteen thousand dollars of the Minnesota 8 per cent. loan, for which the funds cannot be provided before the spring collections come in.

Although the ordinary expenses of the last fiscal year have exceeded but little those of former years, the large appropriations for charitable institutions, our normal school, etc., authorized by the last Legislature, made the demands upon the Treasury unusually heavy, and have materially reduced the balance generally held at this time. It is certainly a matter for congratulation that the State has been enabled to endow so liberally our public institutions without adding one dollar to the funded debt, and it is to be hoped that it may be possible to continue this wise policy in the future.

The present condition of the treasury however, admonishes us that only a reduction of the large sums appropriated last year, and the most rigid economy can carry us safely through the coming year and enable us to maintain our present low rate of State taxation (five mills).

In order to meet promptly the undrawn balances of the last year, and the expenses of the incoming legislature, it will also be necessary to pass a law requiring County Treasurers, whenever called upon by the State Auditor and Treasurer, to forward to the Treasurer all moneys in their hands due the State. Under our present laws the annual spring settlements are generally delayed until the middle of April, which is entirely too late to meet the heavy requirements of the Treasury during and at the close of the session of the legislature.

THE NEW STATE LOAN.

The new State loan.

The loan of one hundred thousand dollars authorized by the last Legislature, was duly advertised in our local and the leading eastern papers, and proposals invited at the office of Messrs. P. N. Myers & Co., bankers, New York. When the time for the opening of the bids arrived, I found that but one had been received, viz: the bid made by the commissioners of our State School fund, who offered one-fourth per cent. premium for the entire sum. The loan was accordingly awarded to them.

It may be a matter of surprise to many, that the bonds of Minnesota, a State young and prosperous, with ample resources and very small debt, were not eagerly sought for. It is certainly not often that a more safe and remunerative investment is offered to capitalists, than Minnesota 7 per cent. State bonds. The explanation is to be found in the unsettled condition of the so-called Minnesota

Railroad bonds, which have accumulated in the eastern market, were exhibited and commented upon, whenever the Treasurer has had occasion to visit New York.

In the past the condition of the treasury and the prostration of business and industry, consequent upon the crisis of 1857, have furnished a good and sufficient excuse for not recognizing and settling what may be justly due upon these bonds. But since our state has entered upon a career of great prosperity and is rapidly completing a system of railroads, whose roadbeds were largely constructed with the very proceeds of these bonds, it would seem that a fair and honorable settlement should not be longer delayed. The good name of the state must not be allowed to suffer and the credit of Minnesota should at least be equal to her ability to pay. That something is due upon these bonds, no one will deny. Is it not then the part of prudence, to say nothing of the obligations of honor and honesty, to provide for the slow but certain extinguishment of that debt, ere the accrued interest has swollen it to gigantic proportions? At all events let the burden be lightened by preserving for this purpose the five hundred thousand acres of land due the state for internal improvement.

THE BUREAU OF INSURANCE.

Thirty-seven insurance companies were authorized, during the last year, to transact business in accordance with the laws of Minnesota.

Since my last report, two small local companies, located at Rochester and Mankato, have gone into liquidation, and a number of companies organized in the states of Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois, unable to comply with that feature of our law requiring a capital of $150,000 00 for foreign companies have withdrawn their agencies, and I am informed that much difficulty is experienced by parties having claims against these corporations for losses sustained, in making collections. Indeed, in a majority of cases nothing can be recovered. The people must be protected against similar losses and the laws should be at once amended, so as to prevent the organization of irresponsible home companies, and the establishment of agencies by "wild cat" corporations of other states. The present law, so far as it relates to home companies, is seriously defective. In the first place the amount of capital required

The Bureau of Insurance.

$25,000 00, is wholly inadequate; $50,000 00 should be the minimum, while $100,000 00 would be more desirable. Secondly, the capital should consist of United States or State bonds, worth par in the money markets, and not in mortgages, for it is not only difficult for the commissioner to satisfy himself as to the real value of the mortgaged property, but the whole system of real estate security is open to abuse and fraud. Thirdly, the right of the commissioner to examine into and decide as to the value of the securities and the responsibility of the companies should be more clearly defined. Fourthly, the power of visitation and examination of securities and books in cases of doubt, (all expenses to be borne by the company interested,) should be given to the insurance commissioner. When these features shall have been engrafted upon our laws, I believe the necessary safeguards will be secured.

In view of the organization of a large number of life and accident insurance companies, the commissioner respectfully recommends that they also be required to comply with the law in rendering annual statements, as is customary in other states.

RAILROAD TAXES.

The State Treasury received during the fiscal year just closed from the railroad companies, the following sums in lieu of taxes, viz:

	From Minnesota Central Railroad,	-	-	$2,789 66
	From Minnesota Valley Railroad,	-	-	331 90
	From Winona & St. Peter Railroad,	-	-	4,556 62
Railroad Taxes.	From St. Paul & Pacific Railroad,	-	-	1,695 37
	Total,	-	-	$9,373 55

Being one per cent. upon the gross earnings of said roads after the completion of the first thirty miles of road. In my opinion this item of revenue, which will largely increase year after year, should be better guarded and controlled. Under the present laws the companies report once a year to the treasurer, who appears to have no power to examine the correctness of their statements. I would respectfully suggest that the laws be so amended as to require a monthly report to the State Auditor, and that officer should be authorized to draw annually or semi-annually for the amounts found to be due the State. The State Auditor being the accounting officer of the State, the examination of these accounts would seem to belong to his department, while the treasurer should not be responsible beyond the safe custody of the funds received.

In submitting the following statement of wolf bounties paid, during the year, I would respectfully suggest that some means may be devised by which a better control could be effected and the state be relieved from an expenditure which properly should be borne by the counties interested.

In closing my official connection with the state administration, I cannot permit this opportunity to pass, without tendering my sincere thanks to the people of Minnesota, for the confidence they have evinced in me by calling me for four successive terms to fill the important office of State Treasurer. Nominated for that responsible office when almost a stranger, I have been allowed to hold that position for a long period of time, during which the proofs of good will were frequent and cordial.

Valedictory.

I now deliver up the trust with the conviction that I have at least endeavored to serve the state faithfully and to the best of my ability, and if I dare indulge the hope that my administration of the treasury has not worked injury to the interests of Minnesota, I shall feel myself amply rewarded.

I also desire to tender my acknowledgments to my brother officers and assistants of the several administrations with whom I have served; for the many favors received at their hands. I part from them with regret and wish them all long life and happiness. While looking back to the time when the first republican state administration came into power, one can not but wonder at the rapid progress Minnesota has made. Our state then groaning under the financial embarrassments of a fearful commercial revulsion, her commerce and industry prostrated, her agricultural interests languishing, the work on her several railroads suspended, and the state and people largely in debt, her future indeed looked dark and unpromising. To-day what a happy contrast do we behold. Our state finances in a healthy condition, our population more than doubled, the cultivated area of the state largely extended, our lines of railroad fast reaching the more important localities, the farming community prospering, our cities and villages growing in size and importance, our school fund rapidly accumulating and our state institutions organized and liberally sustained, Minnesota never presented a more inviting field to the emigrant, nor a more encouraging one to those who have so long labored to promote its welfare.

That the present auspicious condition may long remain, and our state continue to grow in wealth and prosperity, until it shall rival the most advanced of its sister states, I earnestly hope.
